Communicating to transform

ANNUAL REPORT
2022

President´s Vision

For the LLYC Foundation, 2022 has been a year full of enthusiasm, creativity, and new projects, including a new board of trustees and the beginning of a new stage more closely aligned with our social purpose of communication and creativity as tools to transform society.

This year, we fulfilled our goal of adding value and creating social impact through communication, expanding our reach to benefit more people.

The LLYC Foundation is also an inspiration for all of us at the firm, serving as the heart of our company by igniting the commitment of professionals to devote their time, effort, and creative ideas to projects that contribute significantly to society.

Thanks to the involvement and effort of our 23 super volunteers, we have developed global and local creativity and communication projects that have benefitted 859 people from 43 organizations, a 10% increase from last year.

Among these projects are "Transparentes," which aimed to make visible the social and labor barriers faced by the transgender community in Spain; "Voces Futuras," which provides young people in vulnerable situations with soft skills and communication tools; and training for women at risk of exclusion.

Our Foundation is a reality thanks to the empathy and generosity of all our volunteers, who are the driving force behind our impact and transformative projects.

Committed to generating social value

2022 has been a year marked by the growth of our global impact. We have contributed to transforming social realities through the most creative ideas in communication, marketing, and public affairs, from the expertise of our professionals who become volunteers to tell stories, amplifying organizations' projects that contribute to environmental, social, and democracy-supporting causes.

And this is how we do it.

We enhance our global impact

Creative transformation

TRANSPARENT

We contribute by raising awareness of social issues through transformative creativity.

This is a project aimed at increasing awareness about the social and employment barriers that transgender people face in Spain and using communication and creativity to encourage their recruitment.

On the International Day of Trans Visibility in 2022, we presented the stories of trans individuals through an audiovisual piece and an event, where we displayed an art installation of 15 transparent chairs engraved with their names and the duration of their unemployment.

During the event, the participants shared their experiences through the "Transparent" project, highlighting their challenges in finding employment. The chairs were symbolically placed in front of an employment office.

Global transformation

FUTURE VOICES

We provide training to young people at risk of social exclusion to strengthen their soft skills related to communication and public speaking. Our goal is to equip them with valuable communication tools that will give them greater confidence as they navigate their personal and professional futures.

We cover topics such as message construction, non-verbal language, and techniques for compelling storytelling. Communication can help anyone transform their reality and generate a greater understanding of their environment.
